

Join us for an evening with award-winning author

Navid Kermani

one of Germany's most acclaimed writers in conversation with

Prof. Vivian Liska (University of Antwerp), prominent scholar of German Jewish literature

ZWISCHEN KORAN
UND KAFKA
West-östliche Erkundungen

February 3, 2026 | 6PM | 3080 Broadway
New York, NY

Navid Kermani will read selections from his celebrated work Between Quran and Kafka.

He will join Vivian Liska for a conversation about literature and identity, belonging, community, and solidarity -- particularly in times of crisis.

They will consider the place of minority religious identity (Jewish and Muslim) in western literature, and the significance of the German Jewish literary tradition.

The conversation will also touch on Kermani's Iranian heritage and current developments in Iran.

THE JEWISH THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

Registration link
(in-person or livestream):
www.jtsa.edu/kermani

Sponsors:

JTS Hendel Center for Ethics & Justice

JTS Milstein Center for Interreligious Dialogue

UTS Center for Community Engagement & Social Justice

Columbia Institute for Religion, Culture & Public Life

Columbia University – Religious Life

Leo Baeck Institute – New York

Network for European Philosophy & the Jewish Tradition

Comparative Theology & Social Issues (Universität Bonn)

JTS

LEO BAECK INSTITUTE – NEW YORK | BERLIN
for the Study of German-Jewish History and Culture

COLUMBIA |
RELIGIOUS LIFE

UNIVERSITÄT

