Enrollment ADS courses: September 7th!

The registration for ADS courses of the first semester will open on Tuesday 7 September. Please make sure you'll have (re-)enrolled as a PhD student for the academic year 2021-2022 by that time! Only then you will be able to register for ADS-courses via the SisA Self Service with your student account.

Before you register for a course take a look at the ADS course offer on our website, to find out which courses are most valuable for you at this moment. For the next semester, we have foreseen a mixed offer of on-campus courses and online courses. You will find a description and all practical information on the detailed course pages on our website.

Tweet your thesis challenge

The Doctoral Schools of the five Flemish universities are launching a competition "Your thesis in a Twitter thread: #ThesisThread".

The aim is simple: contestants must set out their doctoral thesis, or a part thereof, in a thread of no more than 20 tweets on Twitter in an engaging and accessible way. It is an initiative by the Doctoral Schools of the five Flemish universities to promote the development of science communication skills amongst (nearly and recently graduated) PhD candidates.

Interactive Career Day Data Sciences

On 22 October 2021 the 5 Flemish universities, UGent, KU Leuven, VUB, UHasselt, UAntwerpen together with L'Université de Liège and Janssen Pharmaceutica organise an interactive career day with an exclusive focus on data sciences.

Learn more about career perspectives and R&D activities at Janssen Pharmaceutica and showcase your research in a 3 minute pitch. Expand your network, boost your CV and if you're lucky you can meet up with a Janssen senior lead.

Registrations are open until September 10th!

PhD Talent Pool Flanders

The five Flemish universities created an interuniversity recruitment platform, PhD Talent Pool Flanders. This online portfolio was designed to assist the PhD researcher in their career development.

It will help smoothen the transition of PhD degree holders to the job market but will also connect with potential employers in their search for the best match. You'll find vacancies, company profiles, events and much more.

Don't hesitate to create your own profile in order to fasttrack the next step in your career!

Aftermovie Career Fair

Last March the interuniversity Job Market for Young Researchers took place as an online event. The goal was to connect PhD researchers with the job market, by offering them tips and tricks on networking, job interview preparations, but also bring them in touch with potential employers. If you're looking for some extra advice or you just want to revisit some highlights of the event, be sure to check out the aftermovie!
