

Taxes on Investment Income

More neutrality or more differentiation

Colloquium: “Taxes on investment income: more neutrality or more differentiation” And what if all investment income were taxed equally?

Chairman: Professor Bruno Peeters

Wednesday, December 6, 2017 at 12.30 pm in the auditorium R.002.

Programme:

11.30 am-12.30 pm: welcome with sandwich lunch

12.30-12.45: introduction to the colloquium by professor Bruno Peeters, Just
Professor of the Faculty of Law, University of Antwerp

12.45 am-13.30 pm: session 1: professor Jacques Vanneste, Ordinary Professor
Department of General Economics, University of Antwerp

“Economic Theory on Taxation and Investment Income”

13.30-14.15: session 2: Bart Van Craeynest, Chief economist Econopolis

“Assessment of recent tax measures against the principles of neutrality, differentiation and effectiveness” 2.15 pm-2.45 pm: coffee break

14.45h-15.10u: session 3: Evelyne Verstraelen, Knowledge Center Tax Specialist
PwC

“Impact of using regulated vehicles (investing directly, through a company or through a fund)”

3.10 pm - 3.35 pm: session 4: professor Niels Appermont, lecturer Faculty of Law UHasselt

“Impact of the use of unregulated vehicles (trusts, Caiman tax, see-through tax...)”

3.35pm-4.20pm: session 5: Mr. Hanneke Kroonenberg, RB, Head of Knowledge Center at Van
Lanschot Bankiers - Amsterdam

“Overview of the Dutch situation regarding the taxation of investments and investment income”

4.20pm-4.45pm: Q & A

4.45 pm-5.45 pm: closing and drink

Practical

Welcome with sandwiches from 11.30 am

Auditorium R.002 Rodestraat 14 in 2000 Antwerp.

Registration: via website: www.financialforum.be or by mail to fifo.antwerpen@nbb.be

Participation fee 75 € including documentation, Banking and Finance magazine devoted to this colloquium and sandwich meal to be paid into account no.

BE441000-0941-9845 of the Antwerp Financial Forum.

Students and teachers can participate for free. (students must present a student card).

Cancellation is possible free of charge up to and including December 1.

Canceled registrations after that date will be charged.