

Online ordering at komida

The time has come: a new era has begun at komida!

You can now place an order online.

Your order will be prepared and provided on the requested day in the komida of your choice.

Curious?

Are you a student or personnel of the University of Antwerp? Then choose on which campus you want to pick up your lunch and complete your account, but keep these things in mind:

- To log in, enter your UAntwerp email address
- When you visit the site for the first time, choose 'new customer', use your UAntwerp email address and register.
- You will receive an email in your UAntwerp mailbox containing a link to set your password.

Note: use your UAntwerp address to get the correct discount: @student.uantwerpen.be (students) and @uantwerpen.be (staff members).

How to order?

At the top of the page you will find several icons:

1. By clicking on "the menu card" you will get a complete overview of the available products. You can place your order directly from this card and for the 5 following working days.

To avoid food waste as much as possible, the supply may change.

2. In 'my account' you can consult or adjust your personal details, check your payments and view placed orders in detail. You can also change your password here.

3. The globe allows you to change the language. Set it up on your first visit.

4. You can change your campus via the stall.
If you change your campus, you have to enter your order again. If you go back to the first campus where you placed the original order, you will still see that first order in your shopping cart. So the orders are kept per campus...

At the top of the screen you can see on which campus your lunch will be prepared. If this is not correct, you can still switch campus via this icon.

5. The items you've selected appear in the shopping cart.

When you've added everything, click on checkout.

SUBTOTAL: €3,90

When confirming your order, check whether the correct campus has been selected and whether your details are correct; you can add extra information about your order if needed.

Also check the delivery date and choose the time slot that suits you best. The number of customers per time slot is limited, so please pick up your lunch during this period to optimize the spread of the number of customers at komida.

Finally, choose the payment method of your choice and confirm your order!

Super! We now received your order and will ensure that it is ready on the requested day!

Attention: only paid orders are prepared ...

You will receive an order confirmation by email with your order number and QR code.

General facts:

- You can always order up to 9.30 AM for pick up the same day.
- Be sure to bring your confirmation email with your QR code and order number when you pick up your order (showing on smartphone is of course sufficient).
- Our sandwiches are packed in a paper bag with a PLA* window.
- Salads are presented in a PLA* package.
*PLA = Poly-lactic acid: this material is usually made from the sugars and starches from corn and beets. Lactic acid is extracted from this, after which it is processed into a granulate. Because PLA is not heat resistant, it is only suitable for cold drinks and dishes.
- Dishes for heating are packed in a compostable menu box of unbleached sugar cane, with a compostable bio sealing foil, which is composed of a base sheet of regenerative cellulose film with two surface coating layers.
The box is made of bagasse, a natural and renewable raw material left over from cane sugar production. The sugarcane pulp is pressed into molds to make our biodegradable packaging. The menu boxes are certified home compostable and can be disposed together with the VGF waste if you throw it away at home.
! These boxes may not be thrown away with organic waste on campus.
Put some holes in the sealing foil before heating.
- The supply may change to avoid food waste as much as possible.
- Feedback is welcome! This can be done via komida@uantwerpen.be.

Thank you for ordering online!
