

Student jobs available!

Will you be one of our four new YouAntwerp content creators?

Do you live on Instagram and TikTok? Do you already film everything that happens on campus? And would you like to get paid for it? Then we're looking for you.

What is YouAntwerp?

YouAntwerp is the University of Antwerp's student community on Instagram and TikTok, made by students, for students. Real student life as it is: exam tips, the best coffee near campus, your first day and your last exam. And we're growing fast. Now we want to keep going, with a new team.

What will you do?

You're a creator from A to Z. You come up with your own ideas, film with your smartphone, appear on camera, edit your own videos (CapCut or similar) and publish them on our channels. You reply to the comments under your own posts and help build the community. Together with the rest of the team, you make sure there is new content on YouAntwerp every week.

You'll also make the videos for our campaigns around open days and trial lectures, together with the marketing team.

Who are we looking for?

Four University of Antwerp students who, together, look like our student body. We're deliberately looking for a mix: different campuses (Stadscampus, Drie Eiken, Groenenborger, Middelheim), different programmes, bachelor's and master's, Dutch-speaking and international. You don't have to be an influencer and your editing doesn't have to be perfect. This is what we do ask:

- study at the University of Antwerp in 2026-2027
- dare to be on camera and have something to say
- know how to make a video from start to finish, from idea to edit
- know Instagram and TikTok inside out
- can work from a brief and handle feedback, because we make campaign videos together with the marketing team
- commit for a full academic year, exam periods included

What do we offer?

- A fixed student job contract for a full academic year, with at least 16 hours a month (roughly two working days), planned flexibly around your timetable. In the busy months around open days and trial lectures it can be a bit more.
- 14.22 euros net per hour.
- A paid weekly half-hour check-in with the team.

- A team that welcomes you and shows you the ropes, plus all the tips and tricks we've collected over the years.
- A portfolio you'll actually use later, and access to everything that happens on campus.
