

Elizabeth Mercer (US) studied master of chemistry at the University of Antwerp, and started her PhD in our group in 2021, on modeling and experiments for microwave plasma reactor design for the combined CO₂ and CH₄ conversion, including quenching and heat recovery.