

The integrated shower storage

Concept description

The Integrated Niche Shower is a modern bathroom solution that combines sleek design with practical, built-in storage. A recessed cavity is mounted directly into the wall, creating a dedicated space for all your daily essentials such as shampoo, conditioner, and body wash. Available in two versions, open for instant access, or fitted with a closing panel that conceals everything behind a seamless surface. The result is a refined, spa-like aesthetic where clean lines and elegant fixtures take center stage.

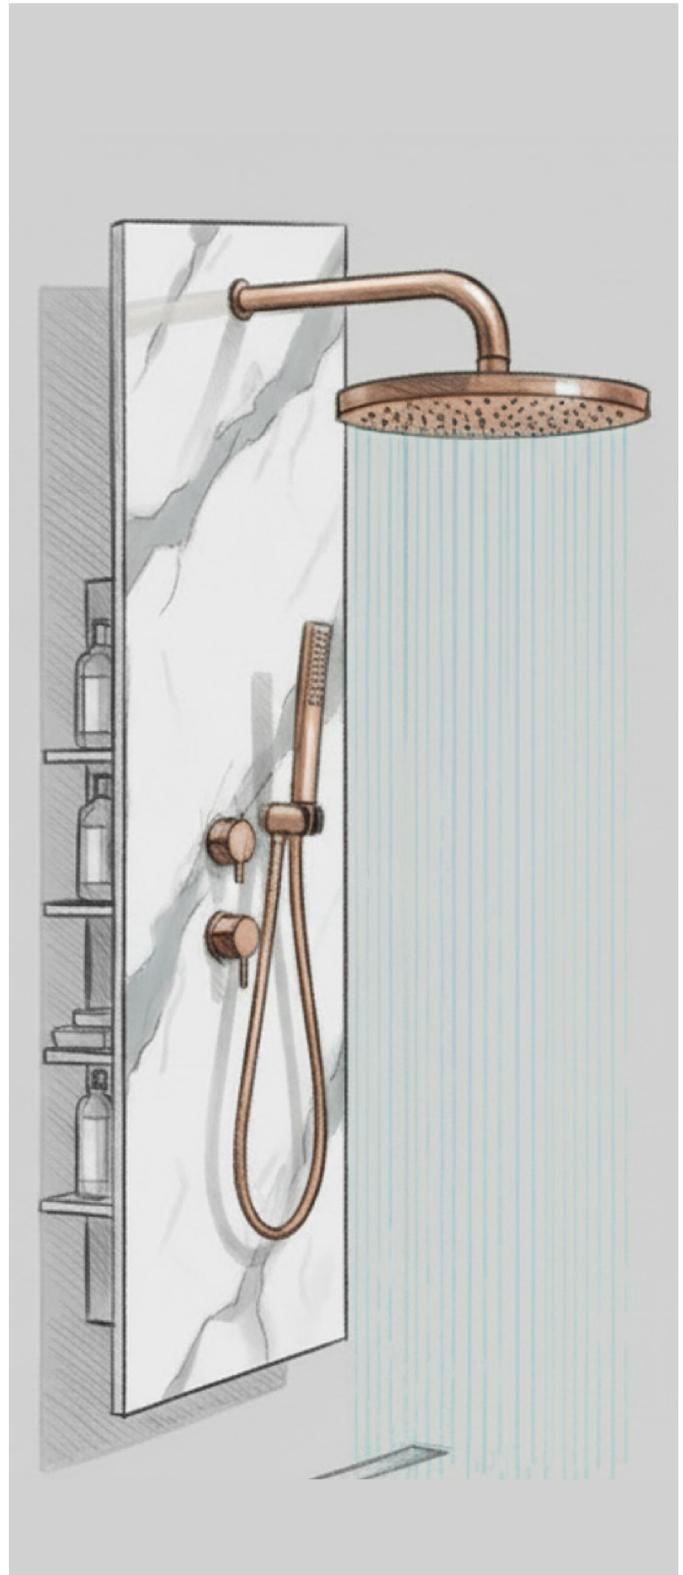

Concept benefits

This concept not only improves visual cleanliness but also enhances everyday functionality. Products remain organized, protected from direct water flow, and always within easy reach. The closing panel version takes it a step further, concealing everything behind a seamless surface for a truly uncluttered look. The Integrated Niche Shower transforms an ordinary shower wall into a smart storage solution, delivering a bathroom that feels refined, spacious, and effortlessly tidy.

The hidden shelf

Concept description

The Hidden Shelf Shower is a modern bathroom solution that combines sleek design with practical storage. The shower panel is mounted slightly away from the wall, creating a concealed storage space behind the slab. Within this hidden cavity, a series of integrated shelves provides easy access to everyday shower products such as shampoo, conditioner, and body wash. By placing storage behind the shower panel, the design removes the need for visible bottles, racks, or wall baskets that often clutter bathrooms. The result is a minimalist aesthetic where only the elegant shower fixture and marble slab remain visible.

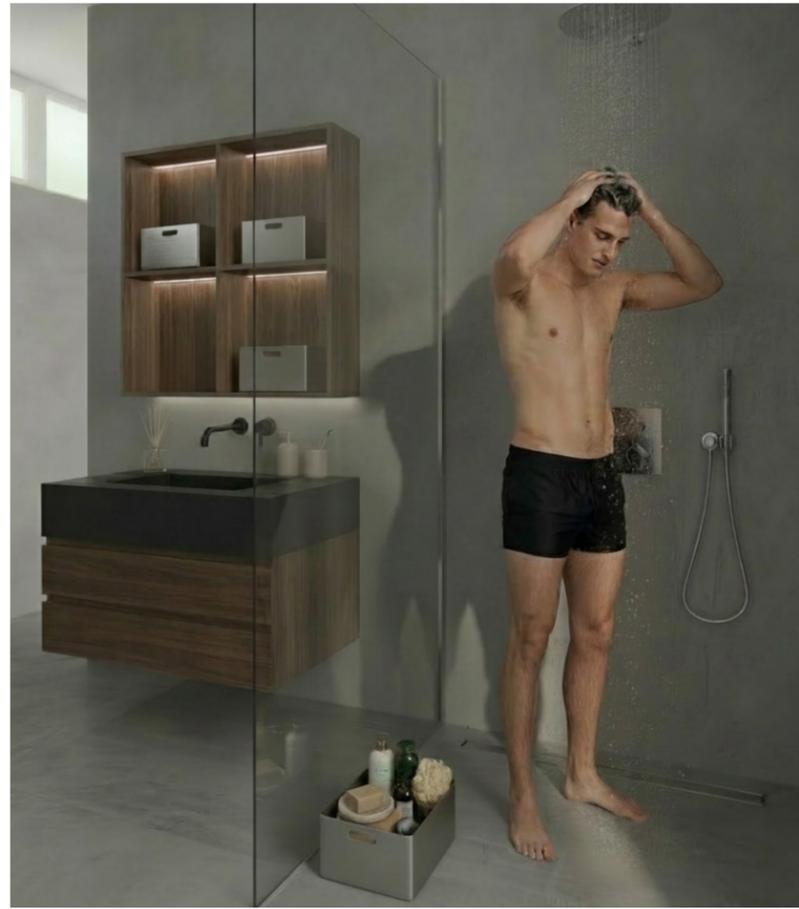

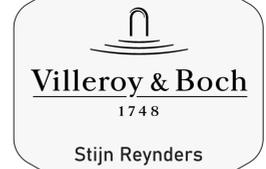

Concept benefits

This concept not only improves visual cleanliness but also enhances functionality. Products remain organized, protected from direct water flow, and conveniently within reach. The Hidden Shelf Shower transforms an ordinary shower wall into a smart storage solution, delivering a bathroom that feels refined, spacious, and effortlessly tidy.

Another key benefit is its easy installation. The shower can be mounted onto an existing wall, allowing storage to be added without major renovations or structural changes. This makes it a simple upgrade for almost any bathroom.

Modern living often means sharing intimate spaces, leading to cluttered surfaces and a lack of personal organization. The Take Away introduces a revolutionary architectural approach to bathroom storage that prioritizes both individual privacy and collective aesthetics. At its core is a modular cabinet, housing a series of sleek, personalized caddy units.

The ritual is simple yet transformative: each household member has their own dedicated "Take Away" box containing their personal care items. Instead of juggling loose bottles, you simply take your entire kit with you to the shower in one fluid motion. Once finished, the unit is returned to its specific place within the cabinet. By integrating mobility directly into the furniture, The Take Away turns a chaotic daily necessity into a structured, high-end experience that keeps your bathroom looking pristine and feeling personal.

Concept benefits

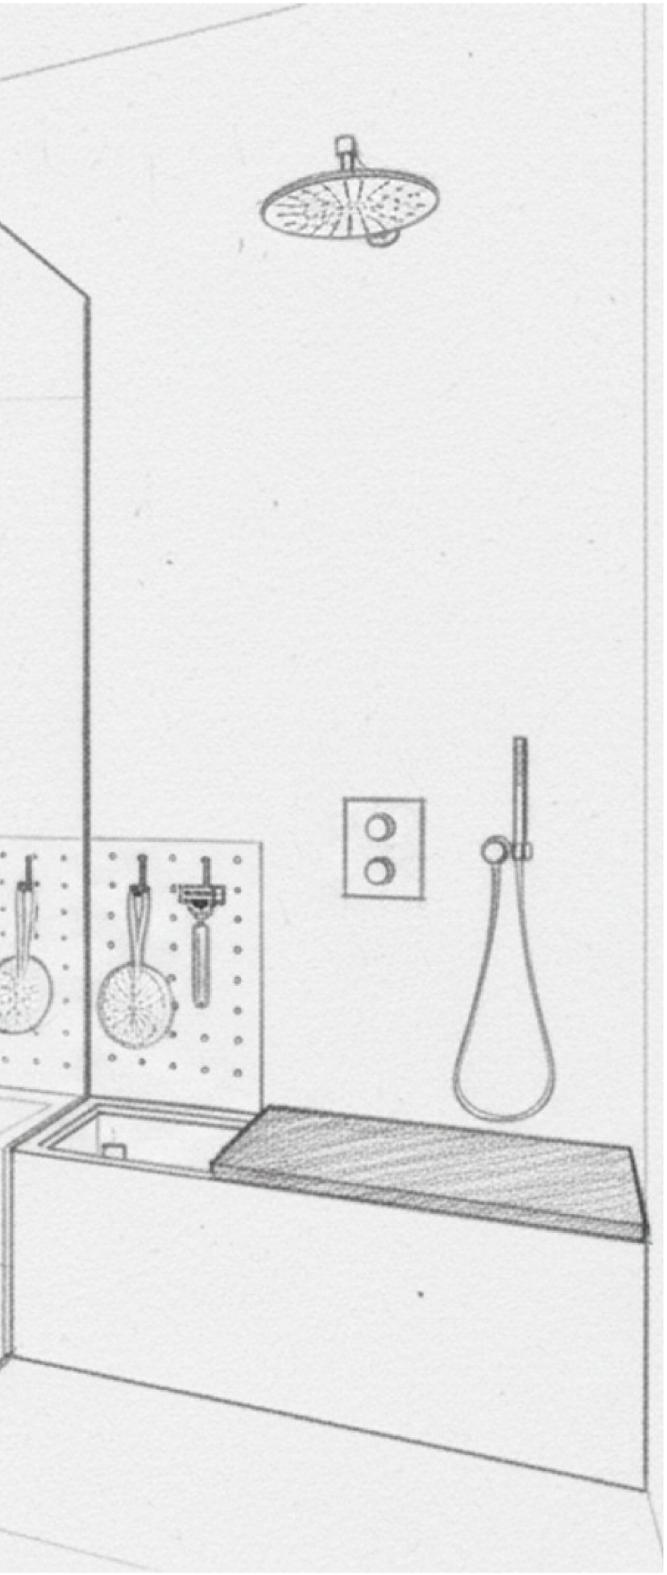

Designed to eliminate the "forest of bottles" in your shower, The Take Away keeps your bathroom aesthetic clean and minimal. Every user enjoys their own dedicated caddy for their personal items.

The system's standout feature is the integrated drainage grid: positioned directly above the sink, it allows wet items to drip-dry naturally into the basin. This prevents mold and mess inside the cabinet, guaranteeing a hygienic, clutter-free environment every single day.

The Cube is a compact seating module designed to be placed directly inside the shower. The design features a sliding lid that opens to reveal discreet storage for shower essentials, keeping products organized and out of sight. Behind the seat, a modular panel allows hooks and accessories to be positioned freely at different heights, creating a customizable system for items such as loofahs, razors, or soap holders.

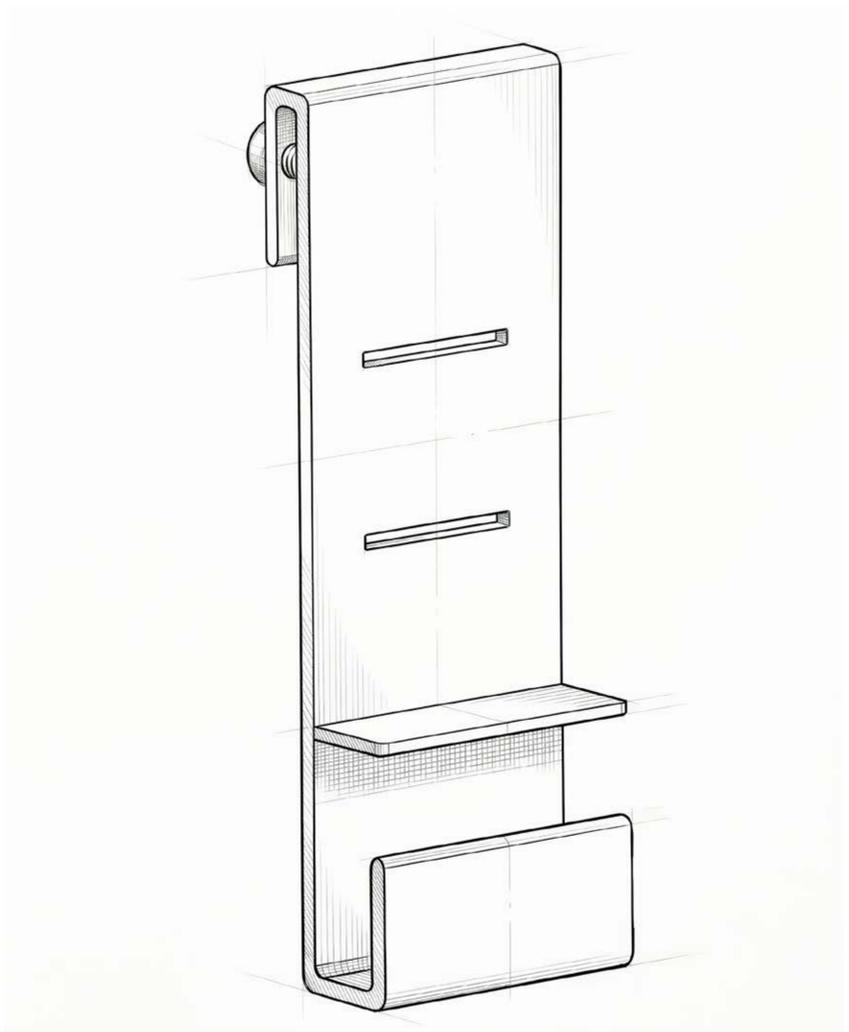

Concept benefits

The Cube enhances the shower experience by combining comfort, organization, and flexibility. Its design allows users to comfortably sit during their shower routines or creates support for tasks like shaving. The hidden storage inside the seating unit reduces visual clutter in the shower space. The modular panel allows users to personalize their setup by placing hooks and accessories exactly where they need them, adapting easily to different habits and products.

The modular shelf

Concept description

The Modular Over-Glass Shower Shelf is a modern bathroom solution that combines sleek design with practical storage. The shelving unit is designed to slide directly over the top of the glass partition, creating an accessible storage space without the need for drilling or wall modifications. Along this suspended metal panel, a series of integrated shelves provides easy access to everyday shower products such as shampoo, body wash, and shaving accessories. By hanging the storage directly on the shower screen, the design removes the need for unreliable suction cups, floor racks, or permanent wall baskets that often clutter bathrooms. The result is a minimalist aesthetic where only the elegant, brushed metal fixture and the
