

JERUSALEM
JULY 5-9, 2015

IIAS ADVANCED SCHOOL IN THE HUMANITIES

JEWES ON THE MOVE

Translocations, Transmissions & Transformations in Jewish Culture

DIRECTORS

Elisheva Baumgarten

The Hebrew University

Steven P. Weitzman

University of Pennsylvania

FACULTY

Ra'anan Boustan, UCLA

Tobias Brinkmann, Penn State University

Jackie Feldman, Ben-Gurion University

Galit Hasan-Rokem, The Hebrew University

Boaz Huss, Ben-Gurion University

Debra Kaplan, Bar-Ilan University

Michael P. Kramer, Bar-Ilan University

Vivian Liska, University of Antwerp

Ilana Pardes, The Hebrew University

Andrea Schatz, King's College London

Throughout recorded Jewish history, from antiquity to the present, Jews have relocated as immigrants, refugees, and travelers, and various kinds of movement – exile, migration, pilgrimage – as well as the movement of ideas and practice, have shaped Jewish history and culture. “Jews on the Move” is an intensive, week-long graduate level program. It offers the opportunity to work with internationally recognized scholars, in archives and libraries, and will include day trips in Jerusalem.

The program is geared toward graduate students from the various subfields of Jewish studies in the humanities and the social sciences, including students who are interested in various aspects of the Jewish past as well as those focused on present-day realities.

For registration, program details and eligibility for financial support see: www.as.huji.ac.il/content/jews-move

With support from The Hebrew University of Jerusalem and the Herbert D. Katz Center for Advanced Judaic Studies at the University of Pennsylvania

Herbert D. Katz Center for Advanced Judaic Studies
UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA