Further details on the own conferences of TPR are available on the TPR’s website. Requests for copies of the various presentations should be addressed to the organizers, as publishers of the respective proceedings.

TPR members have given a series of press interviews during the latest months. Full details, and related textual, audio and video material is available through TPR’s media page.

The Belgian BELSPO BRAIN-TRAINS project (TRansversal Assessment of Intermodal New Strategies), which deals with rail freight intermodality, will host its second public workshop on 2 September 2016 in Antwerp, where the preliminary scenario analysis results will be presented and discussed in active workshops. All are welcome to join this free event, but registration is needed.

After the successful second Innovation event in April 2015, the BNP Paribas Fortis Chair Transport, Logistics and Ports continues working on the integration of maritime supply chain, specifically how innovation along the supply chain can contribute to further integration.

On 12 May 2016, the chair hosted its first Port Co.innovation Café with topic "Innovative ICT solutions in customs practices". All info (program, presentation, press) can be consulted on the Chair web page.

On 17 November 2016, the second BNP Paribas Fortis Port Co.innovation Café will address the topic "Integration of the maritime supply chain: best practices of the chemical sector. Interested in sharing your experiences, don’t hesitate to contact Christa Sys.

On 11 July 2016, the results of the Chair research will be presented at WCTR 2016 in Shanghai, where Special Interest Group A2 on Ports and Maritime (co-chaired by Eddy Van de Voorde and Enrico Musso) will host a special session ‘Port Innovation’. Check the session program.

The European Horizon 2020 BENEFIT 4 TRANSPORT (Business Models for Enhancing Funding and Enabling Financing of Infrastructure in Transport) project, to which TPR contributes, held a webinar on 5 April 2016, on the topic of ‘Can transport investment outcomes be explained by project’s characteristics and context?’ The webinar audio and visuals are available online.

On 21 March 2016, the project presented its results for validation at the European Commission in Brussels. View the presentation.

On 15 April 2016, the project presented its results for validation at its Policy Dialogue session in Frankfurt.

On 13 July 2016, the results of the BENEFIT 4 TRANSPORT research will be presented at WCTR 2016 in Shanghai, at a special session ‘Funding and Financing of Transport Infrastructure’. Check the session program.

TPR and C-MAT are proud to announce to be the organizer of next year’s Air Transport Research Society (ATRS) conference from 5th to 8th July 2017. More information can soon be found on the ATRS 2017 website.

On 21 June 2016, the Flemish Institute for Logistics (VIL) presented the final report of its research project on ‘Nearshoring’, to which TPR contributed. Edwin van Hassel and Thierry Vanslender presented at the event. Nearshoring is gaining momentum, as a counter-reaction to the older offshoring concept, and in reaction to changing wage and transport costs. Full information is available on the project page.

TPR welcomes new junior researcher Thomas Van Asch. Thomas will work during the next years on EconairLab, and more in particular do research on airport market structures.
