

Pierre Nkurunziza's divine revelations

His nomination as the CNDD-FDD candidate for the presidential election (April 2015)

« I need to tell you this. Something important happened during the month when we were organizing the National Congress of our party. I found myself in the same situation as when Jesus was betrayed, sold and beaten, with no one coming to his rescue. In fact, he was not captured by strangers, but precisely by those who knew him very well. I remember vividly that as we were organizing a meeting, we came to realize that even before the meeting was to take place, some people among us had leaked the agenda to the radio stations, while we had not sent any press release to the media. Why did this happen ?

» Because God intended to make me aware that humans behave lowly as humans, but most importantly that God is the only one worthy of trust above anybody else. (Applause and laughter in the audience) God wanted to remind me I should not be surprised, because Jesus in the first instance was not opposed and betrayed by strangers, but rather by priests and those who call themselves people of God. That is how things happened. And please do not underestimate the significance of this. It is those so-called people of God who, after having received the message of the New Testament, in addition to bread and fish, it is those same people who went chasing after Jesus plotting to kill him. Hence, if this can happen to the Son of God, who is God himself, can it not happen to me?

» In my office at President's Headquarters, very few were those who did not betray me. To such an extent that I felt shamed whenever I would pass by them. As for the people with whom we had worked together for so many years, they decided between themselves that I was on my own, showing me clearly I had to realize I was alone now.

» Then we entered the phase of selecting the candidate who would represent our party for the election of the President of Burundi. It was a very tough battle, I'm telling you! It was utterly chaotic, and everyone was confused. To such an extent that even people outside of these circles were deciding my fate. But the cries and sobs of the common people cannot go unnoticed in the eyes of God. These people were harassed and mistreated within their communities and their churches, as well as within their respective religious affiliations. In spite of these adversities, they persevered through their prayers. These are the people who never betrayed me (Applause). They kept praying, warning my opponents: "You've got it wrong, but don't fool yourselves: He's still standing!"

» You as well, have been great men and women before God. In spite of the contestations of some people and others, you disregarded their agitation; you followed your calling and descended to Bujumbura. You chose me as your Presidential candidate in April, and then you returned home. We cannot thank you enough for remaining loyal to the Prophecies of God, especially our compatriot brothers and sisters living in these rural areas, as well as many others living in urban dwellings, who never wavered praying for us, in spirit and in God's Truth. »

God's will revealing through an unexpected round trip flight

« And then, before turning back, he went to the cockpit and ensured the pilots handled the plane well; the pilots put it under control. And when the others went to the meeting, the latter fell through. I did not set foot in that meeting because I was busy praying. (...) Then we proceeded to board the plane; we took off and we left. After spending forty minutes in the air, I told members of the protocol to bring me the Bible so that I could read the Word of God. He replied they had forgotten it. "What," I said, "you forgot it?" Then after five minutes, they informed us that the airport had instructed that we turn around; they said the situation was unsafe. Now you understand how the hand of God works? As I thought about it, it became clear to me: "I came blessed with the Word of God. I was to receive more of His Word, but they forgot the Bible. Then God made the plane turn around, urging us to turn around instead"! This incident helped me to return to get the Bible. Clearly, this was God's plan. Now do you realize how God works in mysterious ways? » (Applause)

When Foreign Envoys tempted him as Satan did with Jesus

(Beginning of excerpt)

" [...] Then, let me tell you: In those past 4 months—January to April—that's when we received many visitors from many countries coming to see what was happening in Burundi. Hotel owners made a lot of money! But, we knew our promises [God's promises]—holding on them tightly. I want to tell you that during those days when foreign visitors were coming, we went through similar times to those when Satan was tempting Jesus, saying: "'If you are the Son of God, cast yourself down from here" There are some foreign visitors who came and told me: "Leave these things, and we'll give you this and this"—[that is] selling one's conscience, international bribery! "Leave this, we'll give you this, and lot of it!" To some—trusted within my circle—I told: "Those people, did you see what they came to tell me? 'Leave this, we will give you this'." It is not an issue of position, that's a misconception. It was about destroying everything —and starting from scratch—people killing each other in this country at an extraordinary level. It was about tearing apart! Tearing apart, destroying [...] People killing each other to extinction. Bloodshed. Nothing else! "Leave that—those things for your people—leave that, and come for this we will give to you." They came to me insistently. God of Heaven knows!"
