INTRODUCTION

The Complete Ruusbroec was published by Brepols in June 2014.¹ The publishing house kindly gave us permission to put the list of Sources and Parallel Passages on the website of the Ruusbroecgenootschap (www.uantwerpen.be/ruusbroec). It is accompanied by an Index of Sources that could not be added to the printed publication, since it would have made the edition too large. The list of Bibliographical References is also added to ease the identification of abridged titles.

The apparatus of sources and parallel passages is based on the apparatus in Ruusbroec's Opera Omnia (1981–2006). Each reference to the English text (in roman) is followed by a reference to the Middle Dutch text (between parentheses and in italics). The apparatus mainly consists of references to the Bible (Vulgate; for the Psalms the Hebrew numbering has been added. Where the numbering of the verses in some Bible books is different in the Vulgate with regard to that of the modern translations, the numbering of the latter is put in parentheses after the numbering of the Vulgate).² The quotations very often consist of only a part of the verses mentioned. Besides the Scripture citations, other sources and parallel passages are mentioned without aiming for an exhaustive apparatus. The non biblical passages were not yet present in Opera Omnia 1–3 and 10. For the most part the citations are paraphrases. These are preceded by the indication cf. It applies to all references following the first one and separated from it by a comma or a semicolon.

For references to the works of Hadewijch, the edition of J. van Mierlo is used. Though more recent editions of *Visioenen*³ (Visions) and Strophische Gedichten (Poems in Stanzas, now called: *Liederen*⁴ (Songs)) are now available, the Van Mierlo edition is still preferred, as—with the exception of the old edition of J. F. J. Heremans and C. J. K. Ledeganck (Gedichten 1875) and J. Vercouillie (Proza 1895, Inleiding, varianten, errata 1905)—it is the only complete one and its wordlists and variant apparatus enable further contextual comparison.

An apparatus of sources is never complete. Corrections and additions are welcome at the e-mail address guido.debaere@uantwerpen.be.

2 Among these are Song of Songs, Wisdom, Isaiah, Malachi and John. In many psalms the English verse numbers are one or two numerals lower than the Greek, Latin, or Hebrew numbers, because the heading of the psalm in question remains unnumbered. We did not indicate these variants: the reader will easily find the relevant verses by ascending to the previous verse(s).

3 Hadewijch, Visioenen. Vertaald door Imme Dros. Met een inleiding en een teksteditie door Frank Willaert. Amsterdam, 1996 (Nederlandse Klassieken).

INLEIDING

In juni 2014 is bij uitgeverij Brepols The Complete Ruusbroec verschenen.¹ De uitgever was zo vriendelijk ons de toelating te geven om het bronnenapparaat (Sources and Parallel Passages) dat in deze publicatie opgenomen was, op de website van het Ruusbroecgenootschap te plaatsen (www.uantwerpen.be/ruusbroec). Dit apparaat wordt gevolgd door een index op de bronnen (Index of Sources), die wegens plaatsgebrek niet in het boek kon worden opgenomen. Ook de literatuurlijst (Bibliographical References) is toegevoegd om de identificatie van de verkorte titels te vereenvoudigen.

Voor de redactie van dit apparaat is uitgegaan van de gegevens die reeds voorhanden zijn in de uitgave van Ruusbroecs Opera Omnia (1981–2006). Elke verwijzing naar de Engelse tekst (in romein) wordt gevolgd door een verwijzing naar de Middelnederlandse tekst (tussen haakjes in cursief). Het apparaat bestaat overwegend uit verwijzingen naar de Bijbel (Vulgaat; voor de Psalmen is de Hebreeuwse nummering tussen haakjes toegevoegd. Waar in sommige Bijbelboeken de nummering van de verzen volgens de Vulgaat verschilt van die in de moderne vertalingen, wordt deze tussen haakjes aan die van de Vulgaat toegevoegd).² Dikwijls betreffen de citaten slechts een deel van de betreffende verzen. Naast de Bijbelcitaten worden andere bron- en parallelteksten vermeld zonder daarbij een exhaustief apparaat na te streven. Deze vermeldingen waren nog niet aanwezig in Opera Omnia 1–3 en 10. De overgrote meerderheid van de citaten zijn parafrases. Deze worden voorafgegaan door de aanduiding cf. Ze geldt voor alle verwijzingen die van de eerste gescheiden zijn door een komma of een kommapunt.

Voor verwijzingen naar Hadewijchs werken is de editie J. van Mierlo gebruikt. Hoewel meer recente uitgaven van *Visioenen*³ en Strophische Gedichten, nu genaamd Liederen,⁴ voorhanden zijn, wordt voor alle teksten de uitgave van Van Mierlo gebruikt, omdat – met uitzondering van de oude uitgave van J. F. J. Heremans en C. J. K. Ledeganck (Gedichten 1875) en J. Vercouillie (Proza 1895, Inleiding, varianten, errata 1905) – het de enige volledige uitgave is, waarbij woordenlijsten en variantenapparaten verdere contextuele studie mogelijk maken.

Een bronnenapparaat is nooit voltooid. Correcties en aanvullingen zijn welkom op het e-mailadres: guido.debaere@uantwerpen.be.

² Dit geldt voor Hooglied, Wijsheid, Jesaja, Maleachi and Johannes. In veel psalmen zijn de versnummers van de Engelse vertalingen een of twee eenheden lager dan de nummers in de Griekse, Latijnse of Hebreeuwse versies, omdat in de Engelse versies het opschrift van de psalm in kwestie niet wordt meegeteld. Deze varianten zijn niet vermeld: de lezer zal ze gemakkelijk terugvinden door een of twee verzen op te klimmen.
